Conference Highlights

The Florida Orchestra Association and Florida ASTA have joined together again to organize a conference designed for string orchestra teachers.

No matter if you are an experienced string educator or have just entered the field, this conference has something for you.

Using the theme, "Turning Our Weaknesses Into Strengths," our outstanding clinicians will supply you with ideas and tools that will help you improve your teaching.

You will have the opportunity to network with other string teachers, visit some fine vendors including William Lee Harris Instrument makers (Chicago), The Beethoven Co., and Florida Music Service.

Our conference site, the new Orlando Hilton, will enable you to pamper yourself and recharge your batteries. This is a luxury hotel in every sense of the word. Our conference rate makes this also a very affordable mini-vacation.

Additional conference information may be found at the Florida Orchestra Association website (www.myfoa.org).

Seminar Highlights

Seminars on Building and Maintaining a Successful Orchestra Program, Technology, Pedagogy seminars for each instrument, Sight Reading, Rehearsal Techniques, Conducting and more!

The Conference Keynote Speaker is Bob Phillips, who is a nationally known string educator, composer and clinician. He is also the ASTA National President-elect.
